“ We want to develop a training package to support people with intellectual disabilities to become owner of their leisure activities.

We are currently in the research phase. Interviews are being conducted, good practices are being collected and people with disabilities are mapping their leisure activities through the 'Photovoice' methodology. Based on this research we will start in September with the development of training manuals, both for people with disabilities, informal local supporters and professionals.

This project is supported by the inclusive teams of all participating countries, under the coordination of Hand in Hand. The inclusive teams consist of professionals, informal local supporters and persons with disabilities.

Through this newsletter we would like to keep you informed of the project's progress.
